

Bob Livingston is the General Manager for Fox Ridge Nursery, located in Harvard Illinois. The nursery's niche is marketing quality field grown B & B trees, evergreens, and shrubs in the upper Midwest region. Twice, during the past twenty-three years Bob has relocated Fox Ridge Nursery's operations. Land Planner, Building Architect, and General Contractor were just some of new titles added to his business card in 2004 during the layout and construction of the new farm.

Bob has served on the board of the Ornamental Growers Association, is an ICN, and credits many of his ideas and success by his friendship and involvement with fellow growers, customers, and trade associations.
